UNITY MITFORD

DEATH OF UNITY MITFORD

Oban, Scotland, May 30 .beginning of the war because planes. of her friendship with Adolf Hitler, died on Saturday night at an Oban hospital.

Miss Freeman-Mitford, daughter of Baron Redesdale, was 33. She became ill a few days ago at the home of her parents on the Island of Inchkeneth, west of the Island of Mull.

In Germany, . near Hitler's Berchtesgaden retreat at the beginning of the war, she was seriously wounded by a pistol shot in the head under circumstances never publicly explained. She was unconscious for three weeks in a Munich hospital. Top German physicians attended her and on Christmas Eve, 1939, Hitler arranged to send her home. On his orders an ambulance train took her to a French Channel port. And the British government allowed her to join her family.

Censors Get Busy On British Films

London, May 30.-British film men are perturbed because their productions, straying too far and realistically into the seamier sides of life, are increasingly coming into conflict with consorship.

At least six current films have w felt the snip of the censors' scissors. but more alarming to the industry is that foreign countries are protesting about the "immorality" in the celluloid exported from Britain. Scenes that leave even the most unsophisticated British audiences unblinking are proving unsavoury to the guardians of morals of other countries.

U.S. OBJECTIONS

The United States this week objected to an episode in the South Sea romance "Blue . Lagoon" which shows actress Jean Simmons lying on the ground, innocently enough, beside her lover. The Americans insist that one of the touple should be shown sitting up.

The United States has always condemned out of hand the script of "The Bad Lord Byron" because of an incestuous love affair in the poet's life-which is not even allowed in the film.

Censorship Induced by the British public itself, however, has also brought headaches to the film men. Showers of letters pouring into newspaper offices, and comments by some Members in Parliament, forced the producers to cut "No Orchids for Miss Blandish," a film about the Addnapping of an heiress by a sexcrazed American gangster.

Courageous PC Laid To Rest.

The remnins of Police Constable 1924 Chiu Ho-ching, who was killed in a gun battle between the police and five bandits at Saikung, New Territories, on Saturday morning, were laid to rest at his native village of Chik Hang today.

PC Chiu Ha-ching joined the Hongkong Police Force in July last year and graduated from the training school in October. He was about 26.

The funeral was well attended, those present including the Commissioner of Police, Mr D. W MacIntosh, the Deputy Commis-sloner Mr W. La B. Sparrow, Mr K. A. Bidmead, Mr N. B. Fraser, Mr G. Leys, Mr J. T. Mackenzie and Chief Inspector S. G. Smith.

funeral procession started from the Kowloon Mortuary, and passed Nathan Road, Public Square Street, Shanghal Street, Argyle Street and Boundary Street, where the coffin was transferred to a police van and taken to Taipo where it was again transported under Police escort by launch to Salkung. At this station, officers lined the route along which the coffin was taken to Chik Kang, Detachments from various police stations in Hongkong and Kowloon were in attendance.

WOMEN OBJECTION ON A JURY

Man's Name Drawn Out At The Third Attempt

Objection to six women serving on a jury with one man was raised by Mr A. Lonsdale, Crown Counsel, at the Criminal Sessions this morning when two men were charged with offences connected with demanding arms and money with menaces.

The name of a male juror was first] called and then followed six women in succession, whereupon Mr Lonsdale asked that the last one be allowed to stand down. He did not give any reason, but the request was granted by the Acting Chief Justice, Mr gations into the activities of a gang Justice Williams. SOME COMMENT AT THE END OF A SEASON PATRICK PLACES IT

The Malayan Visitors And Our Local Standards

By "Recorder"

The first post-war badminton season is over and all the champions for the year have acquired a new collection of silverware. The game is as popular as ever locally, possibly even more so than it was before the war, a fact well attested to by the 18-team roll in the Badminton League.

Despite the seven-year break brought on by the war and a period of readjustment after it, the new faces are still too few and it seems that, as with most local sports short of the big three—football, cricket and softball—the newcomers are shy of the velerans.

The "veterans", though many of them are not really too old, did relatively well by the championships concluded last Friday. However, the champions are all new.

Colony Champion in the final, in the house. However, it was most unfortunate that the University first string, Low Kent Soo, sustained his foot injury that proved a major handleap in his semi-final encounter with Tay. He was the general favourite for the title and, though all credit is due Tay for winning the Championship, I am still inclined to rank Low as the season's No. 1 player-

Rather surprising, I thought, was Patrick Wong's show in climinating S. A. Vanar in the Senior Singles semi-final. Though on early-season form I was inclined to rank Vanar as the Colony's No. 2, he fell off badly in that match and must be ranked behind Tay and Wong.

Of the Juniors, the year's most promising was S. Saul, a former Shanghal player, whose hardest match came in the second round when he climinated A. Bayot of Recreio 18-13, 17-14. He came through the tournament without losing a game,

Some consolation of how local players rank. was held out by the fact that the Malayans are considered likely winners of the Sir George Thomas Cup, Badminton's equivalent of the Davis Cup, but that we have yet to see accomplished.

A former Shanghal player, with more than 20 years' experience the game in Shanghal, where the standard before the war was ceptionally high, and in Europe and Canada, told me the other day that the Malayans did not stand an earthly chance of winning the Thomas Cup.

His premise for this statement is that the Malayans do not smash enough. In local badminton, the harder the smash, the harder the rebound. However, he suggested, let a 6-foot 3-inch Dane bring his racquet down on the shuttle and the rebound will be from the floor.

A CURIOSITY

It was curious watching the ruaction of our local stars to the Malayan exhibition. They dropped smoshing from their stroke repertolre like they would a hot coat and it was rather puzzling, especially to people who couldn't quite understand how it all came about, that they would try again and again' to further test an opponent's stamina Cheung. rather than treat a sitter as they should—that is, smash it without Silva. mercy.

Patrick Wong found that these new tactics worked easily with Vanar, who is anything but a volleying type of player. Robert Tay found they worked with Low Kent Soo, who was beyond stepping back for high returns and just let them go rather than risk upsetting his game thigh muscle-

I am afraid that what is sadly lacking in badminton here is an understanding of the fact that games can be won on sheer courtercraft developed from studying the peculiarities of an opponent's play and presenting him with the type of return he least likes.

THE DON SEEKS A CHANGE IN LEG BEFORE' RULE

London, May 30 .- Don Bradman, bowlers' Enemy No. 1, has started another cricket controversy by advocating in a speech at Lords a change in the leg before wicket rule to make it apply to the ball turning from leg as well as from the off.

Under the present rule, a batsman is out only if the ball strikes his pads directly in front of the wicket.

Bradman now wants the rule to apply to the leg-break which, in the opinion of the umpire, would have struck the wicket irrespective of the point of obstruction.

SOCCER STARS COME HOME

London, May 30.—England's sixteen soccer stars just returned from the Continent, where they scored 15 goals to one and beat the might of Italy 4-0 in Turin, did a good job of work for their country for they showed that England is still supreme at soccer and that British ideals of sportsmanship are as high as they have ever been. They proved that the Englishman's diet cannot, generally, be held responsible for defeats on the field of sport, for in the gruelling heat in Turin it was the Italians, not the English, that faded first under the hot sun. No ambassador ever did better work for his country than these footballers, whose behaviour both on and off the field was exemplary and a credit to Britain: It can truthfully be said that no tour by any team of English sportsmen, or women, did more to enhance the prestige of the Englishmen as footballers and gentlemen. But not all the credit should go to the Englishmen. Italy may have lost the football match, but she won the esteem of all the Englishmen present. Italy's footballers and the vast crowd of soccer fans proved that they have learnt how to "play the game" and to subdue the inherwhich in previous international

Extra Trick Is Won With A Cross-Ruff

By WILLIAM E. McKENNEY

MEN or 15 years ago tournament bridge was considered complicated, but today there is hardly a community that does not provide tournaments.

Today's hand was played by Douglass Andress, secretary of the Montreal Bridge League. His partner was L. H. Benjamin, the trensurer. I do not think West could be criticised for doubling. Nevertheless Andress made five.

He trumped the opening diamond lead in dummy with the four of hearts and cashed the ace and king of clubs. When he led the club queen, West trumped with the ten of hearts. Andress over-trumped with the king, and ruffed the nine of diamonds in dummy. The ten of clubs was led back and when West trumped with the jack of hearts, Andress discarded the four of spades.

West now led the king of spades, which was won in dummy and the ace of hearts was cashed. The seven of clubs was led, West discarded the six of spades and North the jack of spades. Dummy's deuce of spades was trumped by North with the nine of hearts and the ten of diamonds trumped in dummy with the eight of hearts. The five of spades was trumped with the three of hearts.

Thus West won, only the queen and jack of hearts.

Wage Increase Called For

Washington, May 29 .- The President of the American Federation of Labour, William Green, today called for a completion of labour's drive for a third round of wage increase in order to forestall a depression.

Green said: "To halt wage increases now means lower living standards, shortage of buying power and eventually lower production and reduced employment." He said this could mean an economic collapse, which was just what Soviet Russia was hoping for. He indvocated the raturn to "tho pattern of progress which created the American standard of living." Green said the danger of inflation was still threatening the nation due to the heavy demands for military and European ald programmes. Byrnes Hints At Restricted US-Soviet Talks

PRAVDA ANGERED REBUFF OF STALIN

New York, May 30 .- The United States should be willing to talk with the Russians as long as ques-tions affecting other Allied governments were not involved, Mr James Byrnes, former Secretary of State, said today.

Speaking at the Winthrop College commencement exercises in Rock Hill, South Carolina, he said the United States should go ahead with its defence programme in the meantime, bearing in mind the old Indian chief who said: "Fool me once, shame on you; fool me twice, shame on me."

Mrs Spark countered by suggesting the Chairman should quit. The Council of the Society refused to sack the Secretary and Mr Harding went.

, WAVELL INTERVENES

Earl Wavell, a poetry lover and a compiler of an anthology called "Other Men's Flowers," intervened with the suggestion that, to keep the peace, both Mrs Spark and Mr Harding should resign. His advice was not accepted-so he, too, resigned. The annual meeting recently was the stormlest in the Society's history and the language was anything but
